The Main Subject of the Conference

The Issues of Safety in the Contemporary Public Transportation, in Private Individual Transportation and in the Transportation of Goods

The conference allows presenting the most up-to-date solutions in the field, evaluation of the current state and development perspectives for the transportation systems within the urban areas, regions, countries and Europe.

The papers will be presented by scientists, people on scientist and political duties, representatives of the business and transportation fields of all kinds.

An integral part of this year's conference will be a Workshop organised in collaboration with the Centre for Analyses of Transport and Infrastructure. The goal of the Workshop will be to introduce conference participants to the capabilities of a software package for transportation processes modelling.

The full conference fee (950 PLN VAT incl.) covers the following:

- participation in a two-day scientific program (including the Workshop on Day 2)
- conference materials + a reviewed publication of the Silesian University of Technology (to be sent on a later date)
- training materials and a certificate of acquiring basic skills in the use of a transportation process modelling application
- coffee breaks and lunch during the Conference.

The option of attending just one selected day of the conference is also available (600 PLN VAT incl.).

September 9-10, 2013
